Feathered World distribution CLUB COPY

With the increased cost of print, postage and distribution, it is not viable to continue to forward the hard copy of Feathered World to the clubs. This issue will be on the agenda to be discussed at the delegates' meeting on the 6th February. It is proposed following the AGM, with the meetings' endorsement, that as from the next issue (April / May) a digital link version will be available on our web page www.ccbfa.org.au

All clubs and members will have access, or if a paper copy is preferred the club will be able to print their copies.

However we will continue to have it printed in its existing format, but due to increased costs the price charged will increase. This also will be discussed at the delegates' meeting. It is proposed that the cost for clubs for additional copies will be approximately $20.00 each p.a. plus postage, and single copy subscriber $25.00 p.a. Should clubs and single copy subscribers wish to receive a paper copy please notify the secretary by the 15th March.

CCBFA CODE OF PRACTICE NSW BIRD SALES

Revision of Clause 22.

The sale is covered by a Public Liability insurance policy through the CCBFA. Bird sellers must be a member of a club affiliated and insured with the CCBFA, to avoid exposing the club to liability action in the event of a claim involving a non member.. Trade / commercial sellers must have their own business / public liability insurance and must provide a current copy to the club prior to the sale.

2019 Ring Orders

- * The initial orders for 2019 canary rings required for distribution at the specialist annual shows during May should be finalised by the 1st March 2019.
- * An order form should be completed, clubs requiring an order form should contact the Secretary. Supplementary orders can be arranged for all species during 2019

Lice Control

(Source Unknown)

Lice unlike mites are insects. Mites can survive without their host for up to nine months. Most lice will perish after two days without a host, but others may take up to a fortnight.

Today we generally recommend the use of pest strips and insecticides (pea beu) to control lice. Back in 1960 I successfully used quassia chips. At that time quassia chips formed part of the arsenal of the local chemist, but this has now almost entirely ceased with the advent of synthetic pharmaceutical products.

Quassia is the bitterest substance found in nature and is contained in the wood and bark of Picrasma Excelsis and Quassia Amara found in the tropical areas of Central and South America.

It has a multitude of uses, not only in bitters for cocktails, but also in the treatment for measles, diarrhea, fever and lice.

In Australia quassia chips are still widely used as a repellent for possums in roofs.

The infusion is made as follows -

Add 25g quassia chips to 500ml water in a saucepan bring to the boil, turn heat down, cover with a lid and simmer for 60 minutes and strain. This is then diluted 1 part to 3 parts of water before use. Put in a spray bottle and/or use instead of bath water.

Follow up a fortnight later to break the breeding cycle.

Where is Our Sense of Responsibility?

As aviculturists we believe we provide adequate care for our birds, that their well-being is the very foundation of our hobby and as Avicultural societies and clubs, we inherit a leadership role and a responsibility to guide those involved towards good and improving practice. It may be time to ask whether we are providing the leadership expected and whether a sense of responsibility is overt and drives our actions.

A recent public event drew demining criticism of what appeared to be gross failure to implement the adopted Code of Practice, citing examples of birds being presented in conditions described as unacceptable. This criticism extends to active lobbying for Governmental intervention on the basis that voluntary regulation simply did not work. This is a risk that we all need to be conscious of and eliminate by consistently demonstrating good animal husbandry.

It does not matter whether we are involved in competitive exhibition, sales, displays or private bird-keeping. As individuals we are all practicing animal husbandry with a responsibility to do it well and as organisations we are responsible for guiding members and striving for community acceptance and good will.

Not everyone in the community supports bird keeping and we ignore views contrary to our own at our peril! Many pressures such as urbanisation, financial difficulties and competing interests threaten the long-term viability of aviculture with sound animal husbandry being the ultimate defence. If we allow a community perception of bad practices that are not in the best interests of the birds we claim to look after we undermine support or tolerance for our hobby.

It is timely for individual bird-keepers and Avicultural organisations in particular to undertake some serious soul searching. Are we sufficiently concerned for animal welfare or have we lost sight of this in pursuit of aesthetics, financial return or other aspects of the hobby? If we believe we are sufficiently concerned for animal welfare what are we doing to actively promote it and advance standards of practice? Are we being sufficiently responsible?

If community pressure or lobbying prompts Government to act, what type of action is most likely? Inevitably, it will be some form of regulation, imposing standards on the basis that they are now necessary – that self-regulation has failed. Do we want to be part of the cause for this type of intervention? Are we willing to allow those around us to make it warranted?

What is it that your club or society should be doing about this?

Earnie Barnes

The Family of the late Ernie Barnes would like to express their deepest gratitude to all those who took the time to attend his funeral on 23rd October 2018. He will be sadly missed by family and bird family alike.

Nutritional Digestion Aids for Good Health and Wellbeing

TummyRite™

Avian Wellbeing & Health for Maintenance, Breeding and Show

An excellent mixture of nutritional herbs, enzymes, yeasts, prebiotics, amino acids, carotenoids, vitamins and trace minerals for birds of all kinds including breeding birds. Created for the individual aviculture enthusiast. Ideal for maintaining good health and wellbeing of birds and for avian fanciers preparing birds for showing and breeding.

We are looking for potential Club/Bird Society or Commercial Organisations that would be interested in becoming distributors for our TummyRite™ range of products.
